

A Dream of You

I dreamed a dream, once again of you.

I dreamed of you, a love so true.

You haven't aged a day in my mind.

Your love, I still looking a way to find.

It has been many years since I last felt your touch.

It has been the same amount of years since I felt so much.

I dreamed a dream you spoke to me.

I dreamed of you and you set me free.

You looked upon me with your loving eyes.

I have longed for your eyes upon me tonight.

I have counted the days and the nights.

I have hoped for the maybes and the might's

I dreamed a dream of you, once again.

I dreamed a dream of you and then....

I shed a tear another tear after all these years.

I lived with this fear that you are lost, never near.

I can't believe how I feel today

I can't believe I still love you this way.

When you left my life had changed.

In such a way never to be the same.

I point no fingers and place no blame.

I still feel you my love, with this empty shell.

Here I am alone with no one to tell.

A Dream of You!

July 9, 2005