

Much Too Forward Words

Did I scare away with mu much too forward words?

Believe me I meant no harm. It is just my way over creative some would say.

I just couldn't believe someone so beautiful, so real, so nice would give me a look even twice.

My objective here is only a question for you, a consideration for friendship between us two.

My promise to you, Is that I will not act on feelings.

Feelings that may be premature and behave accordingly with that that is for sure.

Achieve a friendship, with someone as lovely as thee.

And relieve you of any false obligation in order to think of me.

I don't deny what I have expressed to you. I will not lie what I have expressed to you is true.

I due admit I may have chosen some words to strongly.

For words that seem unfit I would hate to lose a friendship simply for longing.

So I let you know this, again I will call you at home.

A friend is on the line. So please won't you answer your phone?

Much Too Forward Words