

There's Love in These Eyes

There's love in these eyes can't you see?

I wonder what's on your mind
when you look at me.

There's this fear of mine can't you see?

That the way I look at you
Isn't the way you look at me.

I saw you today my love with a smile upon your face.

So sweet, tender and kind I thought to myself would a girl like you ever be mine?

There's this thing I want to try, its love can't you see?

But, in this world
very few behave deservedly.

There's this heart open wide its mine can't you see?

Tell me does your heart belong to another, unfortunately?

I saw you today my love it was in a different place and time.

A place where dreams run free, a peaceful place inside my mind.

There's dreams in this mind can't you see?

And each one is made of you,

Especially.

There's this fear of mine can't you see?

That your heart belongs to another,

Respectively.

I saw you today my love heaven surrounded you all the way.

You are so beautiful, perfect in every way. You keep me looking forward to every passing day.
