

I Am My Father

I am just like you my father I have your eyes and I have your hair
I have your face and your loving stare.

I'm lonely now without you my father
I never thought I'd see the day
I will be happy again someday somehow some way

I'm one and the same as my father. As the man before me I call my father
I am my father I am his son I'm one and the same as my father before me.
Because I am my Father

I'm just like you my Father .I have your strut and I have your voice.
I have your smile and with the same mind I make my choice.

So similar yet so different that's what we are my father.
I didn't want to be like you
Till the day I found out who you really are.

I'm one and the same as my father. As the man before me I call my father
I am my father I am his son I'm one and the same as my father before me.
Because I am my Father